PowerPlus Energy Celebrates ISO 9001 Certification for Manufacturing Facility

PowerPlus Energy, a leading provider of Australian made energy storage solutions, proudly announces that its Melbourne manufacturing facility and Perth Office have achieved ISO 9001:2015 certification, a globally recognised standard for quality management systems.

The ISO 9001 certification, awarded by Compass Assurance Services, reflects the facility's dedication to continuous improvement, customer satisfaction, and adherence to high quality standards. The certification process involved a thorough evaluation of the facility's quality management system, including its processes, documentation, and overall commitment to maintaining excellence in every aspect of its operations.

"We are thrilled to receive ISO 9001 certification for our facilities," said CEO, Bradley Paton. "The certification aligns with our long-term strategy to enhance operational efficiency, ensure product consistency, and foster a culture of quality across all levels of the company."

PowerPlus Energy would like to thank its customers, partners, and employees for their continued support and contributions to this significant milestone.
